Hazel Park District Library June 2023 Director's Report

Hazel Park Library Friends

The next meeting will be held at the library on Thursday, July 13 at 6:30 p.m. Everyone is welcome to join us and pizza will be served.

Donations

I'm pleased to announce that we received an $1,100 check from the recently disbanded Hazel Park Neighborhood Enrichment ("HPNE") group to be used "for the primary purpose of Adult/Senior programs or interests." We are extremely grateful to the HPNE for helping us out with the library grounds over the years, in addition to providing us with this generous donation.

Upcoming Programs

We have a number of exciting programs scheduled prior to our next meeting. Tomorrow is a big day for us; we will be holding a Touch-A-Truck event at Scout Park at 1:00. Children will get to make crafts, and sit in a fire engine, an ambulance, a dump truck, a bucket truck and a police cars. In the evening, we will be hosting Dan the Creature man at 6:30; he will be bringing live animals, including a tarantula, a tortoise, an alligator, a chinchilla, a giant African bullfrog, parrots, a panther chameleon and snakes. On Saturday, July 15 at 12:00, Marvel artist Jerry DeClaire will share his story as a professional comic book artist. Lastly, be sure to save the date for our annual Summer Reading Picnic, which will be held on Friday, July 28 from 5:00-7:00 p.m. In addition to food, there will be bounce houses, prizes, and a musical performance by the Reefermen.

Building Updates

I am still waiting for quotes on our Eppert Family Room sign from Richard Gage, Banner Sign Company and Global Signs & Printing.

DISCLAIMERS/DISCLOSURES - PERMITS

Permits for work are required. All work to be completed will comply with current code. Permit costs are extra and will be added to the job. Permit costs will be charged to the owner/agent. The owner/agent will be responsible for securing all other necessary permits or ensuring that all trades involved have secured the necessary permits. Once inspection is scheduled, and the owner/agent is notified of the time and date, it will be the owners/agent's responsibility to ensure access to the property at the designated time for completion of inspection. If the owner/agent fails to comply for any reason, the owner/agent/contractor will pay all reinspection fees or fines to cover the cost of rescheduling additional inspections. Please be advised, any cancellation of the scheduled job will result in forfeiture of any related permit/fees associated with said job. Any deposit made to secure said job will be refunded minus what was previously stated.

LOCAL ORDINANCE COMPLIANCY

Please be advised/aware that some municipalities may have regulations that exceed the current plumbing/mechanical code. In some cases, this is not known/recognized until the city official visits the site for inspection. If this occurs, the owner/agent will be notified of the changes necessary to obtain compliance. Any additional costs for labor and materials will be the responsibility of the owner/agent. Cregger always attempts to stay current with all local ordinances, this however is not always possible

DISCLAIMERS/D]SCLOSURES - MAIN DISCLAIMER

Any unforeseen/unknown issues, including any preexisting conditions not readily visible that may impact the course of this job in scope and price, will immediately be brought to the owners/agents' attention. Cregger will not be held responsible. All available options will be discussed.

Hazel Park District Library unveils summer reading lineup

By: Andy Kozlowski Madison-Park News Published June 1, 2023

HAZEL PARK — A singer, magician and comic book artist will be among the guests at this year's summer reading program in Hazel Park. There will also be exotic animals, drum circles, lessons on stop-motion animation, a truck showcase and more.

Participants will be eligible for prizes as well, leading up to the grand finale — a picnic party at Scout-McPherson Park.

The library, located at 123 E. Nine Mile Road, east of John R Road, announced the highlights in advance of registration, which opened June 5. The program then begins Tuesday, June 13.

"The kids, and their parents, get really excited," said Corrine Stocker, the library director. "Usually, we open registration a week before the first program, just so we don't have to sign up hundreds of kids all at once. Everyone is eager to sign up and save a spot."

The overall theme for 2023 is "All Together Now," celebrating friendship, kindness, and working together as a community.

"It's fun, it's free, and it's right in the middle of the community. Many people can walk here," Stocker said. "I'm thrilled for the programs we have lined up this year, for both the kids and teens."

Special events

The events kick off Tuesday, June 13, with two sessions of "Drumcommunity," a drum circle led by Lori Fithian, who will bring her collection of hand drums and other percussion instruments for everyone to play. The first session is at 1 p.m. that day, and the second is at 6:30 p.m.

"Patrons go nuts for 'Drumcommunity,'" said librarian Amy Beem. ["It's going to be so much fun — the whole community, all playing together on their drums.."]

On Tuesday, June 27 \ at 6:30 the library will be visited by 'Dan the Creature Man," known for his exotic animals. He will bring live specimens such as a tarantula, a tortoise, an alligator, a chinchilla, a giant African bullfrog, parrots, a panther chameleon and snakes. Most were adopted or rescued from local shelters: police departments and private citizens.

"These are not animals you see all the time, so it's very interesting for kids and adults alike," Beem said. "The handler is very good with the crowd and at keeping the animals safe.."]

The same day, June 27 participants are invited to Scout-McPherson Park, 901 E. Otis Ave., for "Touch a Truck," at 1 p.m. where guests can check out a fire truck, an ambulance, a police car, a dump truck and a bucket truck: and also enjoy crafts and stories.

"The truck program goes well with the theme of communities working together," Beem said. "Police, fire, public works they all work together to keep our city safe. It's like thinking of our city as one big family."

On Tuesday, July 11, at 6:30 p.m., the library will host "Beverly Meyer, the Music Lady," performing her "Afl Together Now" show, which Beem described as an interactive musical experience.

"Beverly plays guitar and sings, and she's doing songs about friendship and kindness to go along with the theme," Beem said. "She pulls out instruments for the kids to play, and has them all hopping and dancing. She's just full of energy, and we all [love her.."]

On Tuesday, July 25, at 1 p.m. and again at 6:30 p.m., "The Amazing Fled' will juggle and perform gravity-defying feats in a comedy show where crystal balls whirl around his body and along his hands and limbs, as though by magic. He will also explain the secrets behind the tricks: and teach attendees how to juggle.

'He's very kind, with a soothing presence and voice, and the kids are just mesmerized by his contact juggling and everything he does, and how he does it," Beem said.

In addition, there are events geared toward teens and adults.

On Wednesday, June 21, the library will screen the documentary film, "Boblo Boats: A Detroit Ferry Tale," starting at 6 p.m., followed by a question-and-answer session with an expert on the topic.

On Saturday, June 24, at 1 p.m., the library will hold a program on stop-motion animation — the kind of animation seen in films such as "The Nightmare Before Christmas," where puppets are moved and filmed one pose at a time. Each participant will build their own stop-motion puppet and bring it to life using the technique. They will also receive a DVD video with a deep dive into the craft,

And on Saturday, July 15, at noon, comic book artist Jerry DeCaire will return to the library, DeCaire is known for his work at Marvel Comics, where he illustrated stories for series such as "Thor," "XMen," "Wolverine," "Punisher: Conan," "Iron Mans" "Nick Fury," and "The Phantom." He will talk about his prolific career, and teach attendees about his approach to art.

'People are already getting excited for that one," Beem said.

Prizes to be won

Upon signing up, kids receive a packet with the program flyer, a bingo sheet and reading tog. For every three hours of reading logged, they receive a prize. There are four levels of prizes, with the prize value increasing at each level.

For example, at nine hours of reading, kids receive a free book, and at 12 hours, they are entered into the grand prize drawing, to be held Tuesday, July 25, where they can win a Kindle Fire, gift cards, Star Wars bobbleheads, Lego sets and Funko Pops.

There are also weekly prize drawings, where everyone who signed up is eligible. Prizes there include Beanie Babies, Barbie dolls, Pokémon items and fidget spinners.

Teens and adults can also win prizes, but in a different way. They receive a bingo card upon signing up, and for each bingo they complete, they receive a ticket. They can also earn tickets for attending programs and writing book reviews. The tickets will then be drawn at the picnic for one of the grand prizes.

Teens also get to choose a prize from the library's display case when they complete their first bingo card and again when they complete three bingo cards. Adults, meanwhile, are enrolled in weekly prize drawings where a winner will be announced each Wednesday through the end of July.

The summer reading program then comes to a close on Friday, July 28, with the picnic party at Scout-McPherson Park.

"I think there are two reasons I'm such a fan of summer reading," Stocker said. "First one is that not only does it get kids reading during the summer, but it prevents summer slide.' Kids tend to lose the skills they learn in school if they don't engage with reading over summer break.

'But also, when you add the programs and prizes, it really just makes reading so much fun for the kids," she said. "It brings the whole community out to the library, and gets them all reading and doing things together."
